

A message from Heirloom Editor David Nelson:

The fund to put a fitting memorial on the grave of Kurt Kriszhaber, whose family perished in the Holocaust, and who himself died in a tragic accident in 1946, has now reached $1735.

We are a third of the way there - the target is $5000 which will pay for the memorial, an inscription, foundations and cemetery fees.

Permission has been granted to place the memorial but to reach the target I still need your help.

Response to my recent presentation at the Society engendered $80 cash almost immediately in donations from just three people. We have over 220 members – if everyone gave just $15 the memorial would be paid for.

Click on this link, watch my new video, show it to your friends, and if you can, please make a donation.

Here are some of the comments left by donors...

“Anyone who lived through the Holocaust deserves a proper burial and headstone. I wish my grandparents had a grave to place a headstone.”

“Everyone deserves to rest in remembrance. A truly touching and selfless thing to be doing for someone you have no relation to.”

“I donated because I was moved by this effort to honor the memory of a forgotten victim of the Holocaust. None should be forgotten.”

“What a very sad story and irony that this poor young man never had a chance at life.”

“I donated because this story of the unknown is a worthy recipient.”

“I was so moved by the sadness of seeing the unmarked burial plot that I resolved to help in funding a headstone. I once again feel so fortunate to have had the chance to be alive, since my parents were lucky enough to have had the opportunity to come to America in 1939 after fleeing Nazi occupied Vienna in 1938.”
